EAST OF THE ROCKIES.

The Hostiles Attack the Pickets at White Clay Creek.

MILITARY CONTROL OF AGENCIES.

The War and Interior Departments Not Inharmonious—Senate Silver Debate.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

INDIAN WAR.

Hostiles Fire Upon the Pickets—Waiting for the Attack.

DENVER, January 7th.—The News' correspondent at the camp on White Clay creek wires: "No new developments have occurred at this point. All are anxiously waiting for the word to attack the hostiles. General Brooke and his staff are encamped at Wounded Knee, where they have established the headquarters of the Department of the Platte. A cordon of troops is closing in around the hostiles in the valley of White Clay creek. General Brooke has given instructions to each commander of the troops in this vicinity to patrol the country from one command to the other to see that no party of the hostiles escapes.

PICKETS ATTACKED.

"Late last night the camp was aroused by shots from the outlying pickets about two miles from the camp. The picket rode into the camp and said that a band of Indians had tried to surprise them, shooting at them from behind a pile of rocks. They immediately returned the fire. As the night was dark the number of Indians is not known, but judging from the number of shots fired they must have numbered at least twenty. Two troops of cavalry hurried to the scene, but on their arrival they could find no Indians. During the firing one of the pickets was slightly wounded."

AN ATTACK EXPECTED.

OMAHA, January 7th.—The Omaha Bee's special from Pine Ridge says: Some hostiles were seen leaving their camp last night and making toward the various agencies. Whether their errand signifies disintegration or an effort to secure recruits, is not yet known. There is every indication of a great fight close at hand. ev... from the unusual activity in army circles it an... seem as if some fears are entertained that wou... an engagement will occur before the army such ... ready for it. An Army Paymaster arrived sa... fely this morning with money for the soldiers. A very much easier feeling prevails, not only in the towns, but throughout the country.

FOR... SYTHE'S COURT-MARTIAL.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—General Schofield said this morning that the Court of Inquiry established by Gene... al Miles at Pine Ridge for the investigation of Colonel Forsythe's action at Wounded Knee cree... had been dissolved, but he had received no official confirmation of the press dispatch that General Miles had restored Colonel Forsythe to his command. General Miles, he added, had full discretion in the matter.

IT WAS A FIZZ... E.

GUTHRIE (Oklahoma), January 7th.—The great ghost dance, which was to have begun to-day at Red Rock, and in which the representatives of many tribes of this Territory were to participate, is a fizzle.

AGENT ROYER RELIEVED.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—Secretaries Proctor and Noble and General Schofield had a conference at the War Department this afternoon in regard to the Indian troubles, and agreed to appoint an officer of the army as agent of the Indians at the Pine Ridge Agency, thus necessitating the retirement of Indian Agent Royer from that duty. The officer so appointed will, however, retain his position in the army. Indian agents at the other agencies will not be disturbed, but, as shown in General Schofield's telegram of the 6th inst., to General Miles, army officers had been designated to take military control of four other agencies, with instructions to co-operate with the agents of the Interior Department.

The report that these agents had been displaced is without foundation, except as far as it relates to the Pine Ridge Agency.

Captain Pierce of the First Infantry has been selected as Agent at the Pine Ridge Agency, and will probably be appointed by the President to-morrow. A message, embodying the facts given above, has been sent by General Schofield to General Miles.

Secretary Proctor is considerably exercised over the newspaper reports of the controversy between the War and Interior Departments in regard to the management of the Indian campaign. He said this afternoon that the two departments were in perfect harmony in the matter and he authorized a most emphatic denial of any report indicating the slightest friction between the two departments.

THE WOUNDED KNEE BATTLE.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received a long report from the agent at Pine Ridge about the Wounded Knee fight, according to which the fight was started by a medicine man of Big Foot's band. When the soldiers were searching the tepees for arms he suddenly began to cry out, "Kill the soldiers!" Their bullets won't have any effect on our ghost shirts!" at the same time throwing up handfuls of dirt into the air. After a short performance he fired his gun in the direction of the military, and this started the fight.

INDIANS GOING TO THE AGENCY.

CHICAGO, January 7th.—Captain L. Huggins, at the army division headquarters here, received a dispatch this evening from Assistant Adjutant-General Corbin at Pine Ridge saying that a number of Indians are coming into the agency from the camp of the hostiles. How many of the savages are en route it was impossible to approximate.

According to the dispatch the general situation had not greatly changed from the day preceding.

The message said the difficulty was well expressed by one old Indian, who to-day put in an appearance at Pine Ridge. He declared that the trouble is that too many lies are passing in both directions between the agency and the Sioux camps. The inference is that when the real situation becomes cleared to both sides the end will be less distant than it has been made to appear.

LATEST FROM PINE RIDGE.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, January 7th.—Couriers from among the hostiles repeat the announcement that nothing can arrest bloodshed.

At headquarters, however, hopes are entertained that the trouble will soon end in peace. General Miles has not yet heard from Big Road, Jack Red Cloud, He Dog and Little Hawk, who conferred with him on Monday and returned to the hostiles. He expects them to-night or to-morrow. If they do not come then, it is probable the General will take the field after them with but little delay. Late this evening the General received word from old Red Cloud that he would come in to-morrow and bring all the Indians he could with him.

The General thinks Two Strikes will accompany Red Cloud and that they may be followed by all the other Indians.

Advices from Washington announcing the approval of General Miles' suggestions of putting the agencies, where trouble exists, under military control, were received to-night. Miles was satisfied that this reform will inure to the benefit and happiness of the Indians, basing his opinion upon the record of the officers he has selected. All of them have, in times past, had experience in handling Indians and with success.

Mrs. Sykes, formerly Superintendent of the Indian schools in this agency, has received the permission of General Miles to take Little Wound to Chicago and East. She hopes to have this warrior, who is now among the hostiles, and was one of those earliest disaffected, tell the story of the reported wrongs of his people. She returned only a few day ago from Washington and bore a letter from the President to General Miles, on the strength of which her request was granted.

ANOTHER COLLISION.

CHICAGO, January 7th.—At a late hour to-night Captain Huggins, of General Miles' staff, received a dispatch from that officer at Pine Ridge, saying that General Brooke reports some fighting.

Lieutenant Casey of the Twenty-second Infantry was shot in the head and killed by a Brule Sioux. There were no further particulars.

REITER CENSURED.

A Scorching Letter from Tracy on the Barrundia Affair.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—Secretary Tracy has written a letter of unqualified censure to Commander Reiter, who was relieved of his command for his action at San Jose, when senior officer with the Ranger and Thetis at the time of the killing of General Barrundia, on board the steamer Acapulco. The following extracts will serve to show the severity of the censure:

"In your station, in command of a force of public vessels of the United States, in territory which, if not at that moment at war, had recently been the scene of hostilities, as well as of civil disturbances, it was your duty to watch with most active solicitude over the interests of your country, in that quarter.

"From the moment that the approach of the Acapulco, a steamer bearing the American flag, was known to you, you should have taken every step legally in your power to give countenance and support to her captain and protection to all persons on board, especially when you knew their safety was likely to be menaced. Instead of this, in your apparent endeavor to escape responsibility, you remained so completely passive that as far as the events on board the Acapulco were concerned, you and your vessel might as well have been on the other side of the ocean. Whenever any passenger, whether American or foreign, is received on board an American vessel, he comes under the American flag and is entitled to the protection and security of which that flag is a guarantee.

"It was within your legitimate power as it was your imperative duty, to execute by every means legally at your command, the guarantee of protection which the United States gives to all vessels under its flag. Your ships were on the spot. You had full knowledge of General Barrundia's approach. You were informed of the intention to seize him as a political offender. He was not a fugitive from the territory of Guatemala, seeking to escape territorial jurisdiction. Neither was he a conspirator, attempting to return to his country to foment revolution. He was a passenger on board an American ship, which he had joined in Mexico with destination for Panama, and he had thus, without your intervention and outside of local jurisdiction, obtained a place under the flag and the protection of the United States.

"In this situation you found him. His safety was threatened. Under these circumstances it was your plain duty to proceed at once to meet the steamer before she cast anchor in port, to warn the Captain of danger and offer to his passenger, should he desire it, an asylum on board your ship. Even after the arrival of the Acapulco in port your power of discretionary action was by no means taken away. There were three points in which the existing situation imposed upon you, as senior naval officer, the present positive duty, namely:

"First—To make a full investigation of the facts, to ascertain the sufficiency of the charge and of the authority on which the passenger's proposed removal was based.

"Second—To prevent by your presence, with such assistance as you might find necessary, proceedings on board the steamer calculated to endanger the safety of those on board.

"Third—If, upon examination, it appeared to be attempted without proper warrant; that proceedings were merely in the nature of a pretext to secure the person of a political fugitive, to offer him, in accordance with the humane and well-established practice in the cases of refugees whose lives are in danger, the hospitality of your own vessel.

"In none of these particulars does it appear that you took any action."

The Secretary closed the letter in the following words: "It is believed that few cases have ever occurred in the United States navy where a commanding officer so completely abandoned the responsibility of his position as, according to your own showing, you did upon this critical occasion. A United States officer does not ask of foreign Governments permission to offer an asylum to any person on board an American vessel at sea who stands in need of refuge. An officer who so abdicates his authority and that of the nation he represents, and surrenders it to others, has a lesson to learn before he can safely be intrusted with the command of a ship of war."

GENERAL NOTICES.

There is no Pain Like Toothache!

It "beats the dogs" for making a fellow squirm. Nobody pities you. "Get it out," says one; "rub the tooth against a stone," says another; "when it begins to swell then it won't hurt so much," says a third. The reason of the ache is you didn't use SOZODONT and prevent your teeth from decay.

THE LEGISLATURES.

A Deadlock in the Nebraska Joint Session.

DENVER, January 7th.—The eighth general assembly of the Colorado Legislature began here to-day. After the completion of organization, both houses adjourned until to-morrow. The Republican nominees were elected.

A DEADLOCK.

LINCOLN (Neb.), January 7th.—At the joint session of the Legislature this afternoon the canvass of votes for State officers was an interesting struggle for supremacy, ending in a deadlock. Lieutenant-Governor Moeklejohn (Republican) claimed the right to preside, under ... constitution and uniform practice. Speaker the C... (Alliance) refused to vacate, and two officers Elder ... cupied the chair side by side, each ... the gavel. claiming ... er attempted to call the body to order but ... ernor. Intense excitement prevailed, but nothing more serious than loud talk followed. The Speaker ... as himself called to order by the Lieutenant-Go...

The official return... ns were brought in by the Secretary of State, and the Lieutenant-Governor directed the Speaker to read them. He began to do so, but ... was advised by the attorney for the Independent party to desist, which he did.

The Lieutenant-Governor ruled that no business could be transacted until the returns were canvassed.

The joint session sat for four hours, the time being occupied with arguments pro and con. Finally an adjournment was taken until to-morrow. The Alliance people, it is said, wished to prevent the announcement of the returns, preferring to seat their men directly.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

CONCORD, January 7th.—The House and Senate met in joint convention this afternoon and canvassed the returns for Governor, showing Tuttle (Rep.), 42,479; Amsden (Dem.), 42,386; Fletcher (Pro.), 1,383; scattering, 13. A ballot was then taken for Governor, resulting in Tuttle getting 185 and Amsden 150, and Tuttle was declared elected.

CONNECTICUT.

HARTFORD, January 7th.—This afternoon the House sent the official canvass to the Senate with a resolution referring it to the joint committee. The Senate had voted not to select such a committee as desired and it then created a special committee of its own, which, after two hours conference, declared Morris elected Governor with the remainder of the regular Democratic ticket.

A Republican member of the Senate committee reported that various persons had been refused an opportunity to show that returns were incorrect and that no one should be declared elected, and the matter should be examined into.

This was defeated and the Senate, after declaring the State officers elected, adjourned until to-morrow.

The House took a recess until to-morrow.

The Republican caucus to-night renominated Senator Platt.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

One Thousand Hungarians Are Left Homeless—Great Excitement.

BERGEN POINT (N. J.), January 7th.—A fire in a densely populated Hungarian tenement section at Bayonne, last night, left nearly 1,000 Hungarians homeless, while 6,000 of those people were driven nearly wild with excitement.

The fire started shortly after 6 o'clock in a little dry goods store on the first floor of a double three-story tenement. This building, with a similar one and a double four-story tenement adjoining were wholly consumed, with nearly all their contents.

A thousand people lived there like animals, existing mainly on rye bread and stale beer. Another double four-story tenement in course of erection was also destroyed. The houses were probably worth $35,000 and are nearly covered by insurance. Many of the Hungarians insisted upon staying in the burning houses to save their property. Policemen drove them out by force.

No one was injured among the tenants, although three firemen had narrow escapes from suffocation. Shelter for the unfortunate was provided by the police. How the fire started is a mystery.

Morrow to Succeed Judge Sawyer.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—On all sides it seems to be considered settled that Congressman Morrow will succeed Judge Sawyer. The Post says this morning: Judge Lorenzo Sawyer, Circuit Judge of California, has reached the age of retirement, and already there is talk of his successor. Everything points in the direction of Representative Morrow's appointment. He is backed by Senator Stanford and the California delegation, and by a large following in his State. The appointment will probably be made after Congress adjourns.

Corbett in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, January 7th.—Professor James J. Corbett of California, who is matched to fight Peter Jackson for $10,000, and his manager, Charles Steinzeli, arrived to-day and will remain until after the Dempsey-Fitzsimmons fight. It is stated that Corbett's match with Slavin, before the Olympic Club of this city, is off, on account of Slavin's illness.

Fatal Accident.

CHARLOTTE (N. C.), January 7th.—A freight train was derailed on the Richmond and Danville road near Gaffney this afternoon and the boiler of the locomotive exploded. The engineer, fireman and two brakemen were killed and three other trainmen seriously injured.

Arizona's New District Attorney.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—Attorney-General Miller has appointed Thomas F. Wilson Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Arizona.

If You Had a Friend

About to visit some section of country where malarial disease, either in the form of chills and fever or bilious remittent was particularly rife, what would be about the best advice you could give him? We will tell you—to carry along, or procure on arriving, that potent medicinal safeguard, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, known throughout malaria-plagued regions, here and in other countries, as the surest means of disarming the miasmatic scourge, and robbing it of its fell destructive influence. Not only does it fortify the system by increasing its stamina, but overcomes irregularity of digestion, the liver and the bowels, and counteracts the unfavorable effects of over-exertion, bodily and mental exposure in rough weather, or occupation too sedentary or laborious, loss of appetite and excessive nervousness. The functions of alimentation, bilious secretion and sleep have in it a most powerful and reliable auxiliary.

NAPA'S THREE YOUNG FIRE BUGS.

Two Opium Smugglers Captured at Portland With Their Contraband Stuff—Fatal Fire.

HAMMOND'S PATRONS.

Light on the Celebrated Cleveland-Street, London, Scandal.

SEATTLE, January 7th.—John Ames, aged 19, who was an inmate of Charles R. Hammond's notorious Cleveland street house, in London, and who escaped with Hammond to this country, to-day made a statement concerning the notorious place, and swore to its truth before James A. Hillyer, a Notary Public, in the presence of several witnesses.

Hammond is under sentence of two years in the Penitentiary for grand larceny, and the boy, who has heretofore been afraid to tell the story, because of Hammond's threats of personal violence, now tells it voluntarily.

Young Ames was secretary for Hammond, and says he wrote many letters last year to English nobleman, demanding hush money. His sworn statement, in part, is as follows: "In June, 1888, the Conway boy, nineteen years of age, told me of the existence of the house kept by Hammond on Cleveland street, London, and induced me to go there with him. As life was an easy one and money was plenty, I remained there until June, 1889, at which time the discovery of the nature of the house caused Hammond and myself to leave London. The house, I was told by Hammond, had been running between three or four years and during the year I was there about twenty men visited the house regularly. Many of these were introduced into the house under false names, and the names of some were never known either to Hammond or myself. Seven of the men I became personally acquainted with, and their names were the Earl of Euston, Lord Arthur Somerset, Robert Jorvoice, the Queen's officer, Dr. Maitland, Percy Stafford, the capitalist, Hugh Waglin, the banker, and Captain Barbey, of the army."

DEATH IN THE FLAMES.

A Sixteen-Year-Old Boy and Some Horses Cremated at Modesto.

MODESTO, January 7th.—This morning at 2:30 the Wallace livery and feed stable was discovered in flames, and before assistance could be rendered a 16-year-old boy named Jacob Claypool, twenty-two horses, vehicles, all the harness, feed, etc., were burned.

The stable was two-story frame, 100x120 feet, and was owned by Thomas Wallace. The horses and harness were the property of Sontag & Evans, lessees of the stable. Eleven of the animals burned belonged to the lessees and eleven were transient.

Claypool was a ranch hand who was allowed to sleep in the barn while not at work. The charred remains were taken charge of by Coroner Phelps. He was undoubtedly suffocated, as charred blankets were about the body when recovered.

An inquest will be held this afternoon. Wallace's loss is $8,000, insured for $4,000. Sontag & Evans' loss is $5,000; insurance, $3,700.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

The Police of Portland Capture Two of Them Handily.

PORTLAND (Or.), January 7th.—The police to-day arrested two men who had in charge about 300 pounds of unstamped opium.

They gave the names of Billings and Collins. They were conveying opium in an express wagon to a hiding place in a remote part of the city.

The opium was turned over to the Customs officers.

The opium consisted of 140 five-tael cans and is valued at about $3,000. It is stated that the real names of the men are Bradt and Roach. The former is a freight conductor and the latter a brakeman on the Northern Pacific train between here and Tacoma.

The men were taken before the United States Commissioner and released on bail.

YOUNG FIRE-BUGS.

The Napa Incendiaries Are Let Down Very Easily.

NAPA, January 7th.—James Plamant, Lee Harrall and Bert Blanchard, the boys who were held on a charge of arson for trial, in the Superior Court to-day withdrew their plea of not guilty and plead guilty to arson in the second degree. The sentence of the Court was suspended for six months and the boys sent to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of San Francisco for two months, or until further orders of the Court.

They were the leaders of a gang of boys known as the "Spikes," who set fire to several buildings here during the past year, "just for fun." They are all young, and members of respectable families, and when their crime was exposed it caused a sensation here.

Placer's Exhibit.

AUBURN, January 7th.—Placer county will have an exhibit at the State Citrus Fair at Marysville. The crops of oranges had mostly been bought up when the date of the fair was made known, and it was feared that no exhibit could be made. The County Board of Trade met yesterday at Newcastle. W. B. Hayford, Captain J. B. Clarkson and J. G. Whitmore were appointed a soliciting committee. They have already raised $1,000 and have pledges of choice fruit. The exhibit will be under charge of Robert Jones, formerly of Newcastle.

Forger, Not Capitalist.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 7th.—S. Phillips was arrested and placed in jail to-day on a charge of obtaining money from local banks on bogus checks. He succeeded in obtaining $250 from the Bank of Commerce, $350 from another bank, on checks signed by the Burbank Furniture and Manufacturing Company, which turned out to be forgeries.

He has been posing as a capitalist, having contracted for considerable property here.

Opposed to Division.

SAN BERNARDINO, January 7th.—Supervisor Lord introduced a resolution at the session of the Board to-day opposing county division, and resolving that the Board of Supervisors oppose any and all measures for dismemberment, and instruct Senator and Representative to use all honorable means to defeat it. Action was deferred till to-morrow.

Paying Off the Laborers.

PORTLAND (Or.), January 7th.—Late this afternoon the Union Pacific began paying off the laborers who hold time checks for work done on the Sound extension. The brokers who bought time checks at a discount and the contractors will not receive their money until the claims of the laborers are satisfied.

Two Children Drowned.

COTTONWOOD, January 7th.—Yesterday about noon two of J. Gibson's children were drowned in a pond near Logan's ferry, Shasta county, a girl 8 years old and her little brother 6 years old. No one saw them drowned, but it is presumed that they were throwing sticks into the pond for a dog to bring out when the accidents occurred.

CONGRESSIONAL.

IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—In the Senate the conference report on the public printing deficiency bill was agreed to.

The financial bill was then taken up, and Daniel spoke in favor of free coinage.

Plumb followed. He credited the Silver Act of last session with having had the effect of preventing a universal financial panic. Whatever may be said about its shortcomings, its effect on the immediate situation has been of munificent character. He did not share the fears of the Senator from Ohio (Sherman) as to what would happen from the free coinage of silver. Perhaps he was not as sensitive on that point as he might have been if he had not heard so often similar forbearings from the same quarter that had not been realized. He (Plumb) was not able to give his support to the bill reported by the Finance Committee. He was opposed to the first section, providing for the purchase of $12,000,000 worth of silver. It would, of course, add that much money to circulation, but it would bear on its face a disposition to help a certain class of people at the expense of the treasury. It was in the interest of our trade and of honest money that the country should establish as nearly as possible parity between gold and silver. The population of the country was increasing at the rate of 2½ per cent., while business was increasing at the rate of 8 per cent. Circulation should have relation to both population and business. There should be international bimetallism. He did not hold that the free coinage of silver was the cure for all evils, but he did contend that it was a long, wise and much-needed step in the right direction.

Hiscock spoke against free coinage. The people that he represented never believed that the free coinage of silver would place that metal on parity with gold.

IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, January 7th.—In the House the Senate bill increasing from fifty to seventy the number of army officers who may be detailed to military colleges, was passed.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the shipping bill.

Herbert of Alabama opposed the measure because it proposed an indiscriminate subsidy to vessels of every character in foreign trade. It was the natural result of the McKinley bill, he said.

Dingley of Maine, reviewing the decadence of American shipping interests, said that in such a condition as the country now found itself, with only 12½ per cent. of the foreign carrying trade, with Great Britian entrenched on every ocean route, it was obvious, that it was utterly out of the power of private individuals, without assistance in some direction, to dislodge the shipping of Great Britain. It was said that the bill would not do for the merchant marine what was claimed for it. We could judge of that by what a similar policy had done for France, with less maritime people than those of the United States.

Within five years from the establishment of a subsidy system, the steam tonnage of France had doubled. With the widest extent of coast known to any nation, the United States could reap a benefit from subsidies far greater than any other nation. Italy had adopted a subsidy policy in 1885, and in four years her steam marine had increased 40 per cent. The maximum expense of the bill the first year would be $2,000,000, of which all but about $300,000 or $400,000 would come from the postage and tonnage dues, taking the highest rate of increase in tonnage, and he intimated as a result of the provisions of the bill, that the greatest amount of expenditure that would be needed in one year would be $7,000,000, after which the rate of payment would steadily diminish.

Dockery of Missouri said there were three causes that constituted a barrier against any attempt to restore the American carrying trade. The first was the difference of cost between American and foreign vessels; the second, the greater running expenses of American vessels were under, and the third, the harsh and restrictive features of our navigation laws, exacting heavy tonnage dues, Consular fees and other dues. Furthermore, the Republican policy of exclusion of imports was at war with the interest of the American carrying trade. He was opposed to subsidies and other protection to special industries, and asked Farquhar, Chairman of the committee, how much the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, which, at one session, he said, corrupted the employes of the House, would get.

Farquhar replied that it would get the same as all other steamship companies.

Dockery said that was no answer, and asked if the Pacific Mail stock had not risen on the probability of the passage of the bill.

Farquhar warmly replied if it were so, he was glad of it, and hoped the stock of every American company would increase in value.

Dockery said he wanted to take home to the farmers of the West that $5,000,000 that was being taken away from the Treasury to sustain and support New England ship owners. George Gould, he understood, was one of the "laboring men" to be benefited. Dockery then invited attention to the restrictive scope of the reciprocity advocated by Secretary Blaine. So far as the farmers were concerned, a defect that was fatal to the subsidy was alike fatal to reciprocity. The farmer could derive no benefit from reciprocity, because the South American countries had almost every article necessary for their own consumption. Let the country return to that policy under which it explored every sea and cast anchor in every harbor. Divested of every artificial restriction, our commercial marine could renew and assert its importance upon the deep.

Pending further debate the committee rose and the House adjourned.

A Canadian Minister Who Thinks Blaine is Insincere.

THE IRISH LEADERS HARMONIZE.

A Peaceful Settlement of Their Disputes is Reached—Thirty Families Burned Out in Paris.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

BEHRING SEA.

A Canadian Cabinet Minister Charges Blaine with Insincerity.

OTTAWA (Ont.), January 7th.—Considerable interest is manifested here in the latest phase of the Behring Sea discussion, caused by the publication of Blaine's reply to Lord Salisbury. Blaine seems to have lit upon one or two new points, and with a view to ascertaining their relative strength, Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, was asked for his opinion of them. Sir John said that in the case of the Ceylon pearl fisheries jurisdiction was exercised by England simply to prohibit the injurious operation of those fisheries by British subjects, and there has been no attempt to exclude foreigners from the pearl fisheries or to restrain their operations.

"What do you think of Blaine's contention regarding St. Helena?"

"That," answered Sir John, "seems to be a new point raised and takes us back to 1816. Napoleon was then confined on St. Helena, and Great Britain's action in excluding vessels from waters within eight leagues of St. Helena was a measure of war, taken in concert with the great allied Powers, which alone would be interested in resisting the cession of dominion, and at that time the assertion of sovereignty by every maritime Power in seas surrounding her possessions was vastly more common than it is to-day. It will be for Blaine to enforce this contention in the face of the fact that Dwight Foster, who conducted the case for the United States before the Halifax Commission made it a strong point that the pretensions of all maritime countries at that time could not be cited at the present day as defining bounds of international law as regards marine jurisdiction. Great Britain has been for years asserting sovereignty over all the seas surrounding the British islands, and she had claimed, with acquiescence of both France and Spain, all the bank fisheries within sixty miles of the coast of Newfoundland and the whole Gulf of St. Lawrence, so that even if the question of St. Helena were not entirely exceptional and the result of a compact, it belonged to a period which cannot be cited as a precedent in modern international law."

"What do you think of the questions which Blaine desires to submit to arbitration?"

"They are all involved in the reference which Lord Salisbury proposed—What were the rights exercised by Russia in Behring Sea? How far were they conceded by Great Britain? Was Behring Sea included in the Pacific Ocean? and so on. Blaine obviously is not sincere in his contention, because he could have raised any of these questions on general reference."

ALL IS PEACE.

The Irish Leaders Reach an Amicable Agreement at Last.

LONDON, January 7th.—Special advices received here from Boulogne say that O'Brien, at his own request, was empowered to ask McCarthy to retire from the Chairmanship of the anti-Parnell section of the Irish party in favor of John Dillon, or, if Mr. O'Brien prefers, in favor of himself. O'Brien announces that his conference with Parnell is finished.

BOULOGNE SUR-MER, January 7th.—An authorized statement is issued by the Irish leaders who were present at the conference here. They announce that the conference terminated today, and both parties interested have resolved that the proceedings should be regarded as of a confidential nature. It is understood, however, that the exchange of views which have taken place have led to the hope that a peaceable settlement of the matter in dispute will ensue.

STRIKES EXTENDING.

The Situation in London and Glasgow Not Improving.

IT WILL BE GRAND.

The Marysville Citrus Fair Will Be a World-Beater.

[Marysville Appeal, January 6th.]

The people of Northern and Central California may be congratulated on the certainty that the citrus fair to open in Marysville on Monday, the 12th instant, will be the most beautiful spectacle of its kind ever seen on earth. This may sound like extravagance, but it is sober fact. Citrus fairs are confined to California and Florida, and not before in America has such pains been taken or opportunity afforded for elaborate and artistic decoration and grouping of exhibits, such as will be seen in the pavilion here next week. It will be a feast for the eye; an astounding, entrancing display of beauty in foliage and fruit. Everybody in the State should see it, for it will be worth a long journey to behold. It is to be a proud week for Northern California, for Marysville is doing more than justice to the occasion. Scores of enthusiastic ladies are lending their skill and taste to voluntary labors of adornment. Some idea of the extent of the decoration may be gained from the bare statement that thousands of feet of evergreen "rope"—literally more than a mile of it—has been made for festoons, wreaths and ornamental effects, and many thousands of oranges have been used in the ornamentation of the walls and ceilings.

Such beauty and fullness of decoration as will distinguish this fair has never before been attempted in displays of citrus fruits. And the showing of fruit promises to be of a completeness, merit and attractiveness corresponding to the decorative effects.

Our citrus fair is to be a splendid object lesson, combining education with entertainment; a world-beater and a glory to the State.

UNNATURAL ELEMENTS IN GOVERNMENT.

The fundamentals of the American Government are unimpaired. The Constitution of the United States contains all the springs of all liberty and all the guarantees essential to free and prosperous government. The difficulties we encounter to-day are not fundamental; they relate to the superstructures we rear by legislation and custom.

We repeat, the substructure of the government of the republic is sound, and all the subserviency, corruption and venality attaching to legislation is of unnatural growth. So far from being pessimistic, we see every reason for belief that these misdirections may be changed, corruption put under foot, and the power of rings and combines broken up. For the destiny of the nation has not been accomplished, and it is not given that the people are to forever submit to usurpation of their power. Because of this belief, we have regarded the Farmers' Alliance movement as one of the results through which usurpation is to be broken, and power seized upon by rings and bosses wrested from them and restored to the people.

These are not mere generalities; whoever looks over the record of late tariff legislation, for example, will find in it alone ample evidence that not the well-being of the whole people was consulted, but rather the desires and dictations of manufacturing rings and capitalized enterprises of selfish proportions. "Loyalty to party" has been the whip in the hands of the bosses and the ring-masters to drive the people into line with their policies that conserve more private ends than general interests. Men do not owe loyalty to party when it errs or becomes a tool of the corrupt. "Loyalty," if properly usable in a republic at all, is due to truth and to country; party is but a means, to be abandoned or taken up just as it carries ill or well. It is because the people now fully realize this truth that the party journal has no influence among them and that the independent and free-handed paper is the true exponent of public opinion.

The new era of this Government is to slough off all unnatural elements; the interests of the people as a whole are to be alone conserved; congested populations are not to be encouraged to drain rural vitality; rings, trusts and combinations are to be moral, if not legal, offenses; the Senate is to be restored to something near its original character, and premiums are not to be hawked about for sittings in it, such, for instance, as tempted Mr. Astor, who was offered a seat from Florida for the bonus of $250,000. Every tendency to class distinction is to be obliterated; under the mere shibboleth of "protection" we are not to line the purses of manufacturers' rings at the expense of the consumers; but reciprocity that protects home production by enlarging the export trade is to become the policy of the nation. The aristocratic drift of the Senate is to cease; mere obstruction and hindrance to legislation for party advantage is to be regarded as an offense; allegiance to the country is to precede loyalty to party; public servants are to hold themselves accountable to the people and not to political bosses; the rotten-borough system of government must give way to the law of equitable representation, which is equal representation; finally legislation is to have its paternity in the needs of the people legally reflected and not in the lobby at Washington or the council chambers of trusts and rings and political conclaves having party advantage alone in view. It may be many years before the fruition of these high hopes is attained, but it must come to pass, or the republic will sink into the mire of class, and fall beneath the rule of the rich that are corrupt and the corrupt that are not, but would be rich.

GOVERNOR WATERMAN'S MESSAGE.

The message of the retiring Governor, R. W. Waterman, to the Legislature was necessarily extended. It involved a review of the period of Governor Waterman's administration, and consideration of very many State affairs, affecting the revenue, State institutions, the policy of the commonwealth, condition of the State funds, etc. It was, also, not only proper but necessary that the retiring Governor should give to the Legislature such advice as his experience in the office he has filled suggested to him. These reviews and suggestions the retiring Governor has made very fully and frankly. While the message will not rank as a great State document, since there was no occasion for any manifestation of high statesmanship, it will be found to contain suggestions worthy of serious and earnest consideration. This is not to say that concurrence with them all is advisable. On the contrary, positions are assumed regarding some matters that we do not deem strongly defensible. Nevertheless, the message is a statistical review that has value, of which the Legislature should avail itself, and it contains some suggestions that will have the concurrence of the better thought of the people. It is to be regretted that its extreme length will operate as a bar to its general reading. But the retiring Governor appears to have deemed it necessary to very fully discharge his mind of views concerning State matters in extended expression, and since there are so many topics proper to be treated in such a document, it is probable that it grew upon him beyond anticipation. The recommendations contained in the message should have proper reference and be deliberately and fully considered, and either commended, modified or rejected, as in the judgment of the Legislature will best conserve the interests of the people, and more nor less than this Governor Waterman will not expect.

CALIFORNIA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

The RECORD-UNION has already fully and emphatically expressed itself concerning the proposition to clear out the State Treasury to promote a California exhibit at the Chicago World's Fair. There is no need for any such enormous sum as the enthusiasts in spending other people's money maintain. However, that question will come up hereafter; it will suffice to say that there must be no robbing, no scattering of the people's coin. What is necessary to proper aid should be and will be appropriated. Just now the question is raised whether any appropriation at all can be made under the Constitution, which reads:

No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and upon warrants duly drawn thereon by the Controller; and no money shall ever be appropriated or drawn from the State Treasury for the use or benefit of any corporation, association, asylum, or hospital or any other institution not under the exclusive management and control of the State as a State institution, nor shall any grant or donation of property ever be made thereto by the State.

Now to settle any possible doubt as to the constitutional right, let California insist upon a separate exhibition under her own name, title and supervision. There can then be no question concerning the right to appropriate for it. We have heretofore and at length set forth why California should not exhibit in the classified exhibition. It is not necessary to repeat them now; they gain force as time advances; they should be pressed upon the management of the World's Fair and insisted upon. We must not lose California by distribution of her exhibits in a classified scheme. We want a collective California exhibition and, if possible, in a California building.

THE new Attorney-General, Mr. Hart, takes precisely the view advanced by the RECORD-UNION concerning the vacancy in the Senatorship from Butte. He holds ex-Attorney-General Johnson's ruling to have been absurd, and if logical at all, to amount to the perpetuation in the Senatorial office of whosoever manages to obtain a seat. Under the new ruling, the Governor has properly called an election to fill the vacancy. But what a commentary it is upon the science of the law, that two Attorney-Generals should so widely differ in the interpretation of a simple clause of the Constitution, that to the lay mind is as plain as a pike-staff.

MEXICO proposes in her suggested decimal monetary system to abandon the coin that is the equivalent of our quarter of a dollar. We should do the same. It has no proper place in decimal systems. Our silver coins should simply be dimes, dollars and half dollars, representing five dimes, with a double piece representing two dimes, and for convenience the retention of the half dime in the form of the nickel.

HERODOTUS declared that there were dwarfs in Central Africa and impenetrable dark forests. For many centuries the learned of the world laughed at Herodotus. But now Stanley comes to the rescue of the reputation of a historian, and proves that the old Greek writer knew precisely what he was talking about.

"CALIFORNIA ON WHEELS."

The Opportunity Northern California is Letting Slip.

The traveling exhibit sent over the United States by the State Board of Trade is meeting with extraordinary success. From a recent letter received by William H. Mills, Chairman of the Committee of "California on Wheels," from E. B. Smith, who is traveling with the exhibit, the following is quoted:

"In Chicago and elsewhere on our route we havee been visited by a constant and appreciative audience, and our exhibit excites the wonder and admiration of all. It is the nature of a revelation, and the expression of a desire to visit a country which produces such luxuries is almost universal. The inquiries that the exhibit call out show how much interest it has excited, and cannot help, if we make use of the opportunity, to lead to beneficial results. The exhibit is constantly filled with intelligent spectators, eager to view the splendid evidences of California soil, climate and productions. We make it a point to engage in conversation with every one who seems especially interested in what he or she sees. As a result we have interested audiences. The range of questions asked is so great that it embraces inquiries on the various industries and capabilities of our State, showing that the people of the East are eager to learn all they can of the wonders of our glorious State. There is, however, a prevailing impression that all the fruit contained in the exhibit is grown only in Southern California, and we find considerable difficulty in convincing the people that such is not the case. That theory, however, is augmented by the fact that the only reinforcements of fresh fruits that have been sent to the exhibit since it left California were sent to us from the southern part of the State, while Northern California has almost disregarded its interests in that respect. The northern part of the State has done but little to make these cars attractive—except at the outset. The people of Northern California should be impressed with the necessity of securing adequate representation in the exhibit, and not give to Southern California almost the entire benefit of this magnificent scheme of advertising the diversified products of the State."

The foregoing is a truthful report of the situation as expressed by the management of "California on Wheels," and it is to be hoped that the people of Northern California will not further disregard the constant appeals that have been made to them by the State Board of Trade soliciting exhibits of fruits. In this connection it may be well to state that anyone desiring to send packages to "California on Wheels" can do so free of charge, by mailing same to the General Manager of the State Board of Trade at San Francisco, who will arrange for immediate delivery to the car at whatever point same may be stationed. Southern California has made it a point to send a certain amount of exhibits every week. They have not failed in that work, and the people of that section certainly deserve commendation for the public spirit and enterprise they have shown in the matter. Their example is worthy of emulation at the hands of the people of the northern portion of the State, who are well supplied with the facilities wherewith to secure and retain a proper representation in the traveling exhibit.

Let the people of Sacramento county show their enterprise in this matter by sending small boxes of oranges, lemons, persimmons, and other semi-tropical products to the traveling exhibit. In this connection, Eugene J. Gregory, President of the State Board of Trade, authorizes us to state that he will give personal attention to any exhibits that may be sent to his place of business, and will guarantee that the same will be forwarded without delay to "California on Wheels," and therein receive the recognition to which they are entitled. This will entail but small effort upon exhibitors, while the result will be greatly beneficial to the interests of our State. Let Sacramento county take the initiative in the missionary work, and encourage the other counties of Northern California to profit by the example.

The space in the new rooms of the State Board of Trade is being rapidly filled with exhibits from various portions of the State. Sacramento county will be represented by a most elaborate exhibit of green and dried fruit, cereals, seeds, hops, vegetables, glass goods, etc. The rooms will soon present a very handsome and attractive appearance, the increased space over the former quarters offering splendid facilities for arrangement and display of the exhibits.

NEW DECISIONS.

Three Filed Yesterday in this City b the Supreme Court.

The following Supreme Court opinions were filed yesterday in the office of Supreme Court Clerk Brown in this city:

Shanklin (respondent) vs. McNamara et al. This is a Yuba county case and an action in ejectment. Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff, and the defendants appealed from the judgment and from the order denying a new trial. The Supreme Court affirms the judgment.

R. B. Wilbolt et al, assignees (appellants) vs. Thomas Cunningham et al. This is a San Joaquin county case and an appeal by the plaintiffs from a final judgment entered against them upon defendants demurrer to their complaint, praying that defendants be enjoined from selling the realty in controversy under certain writs of execution.

The Supreme Court reverses the judgment, with instructions to the lower Court to overrule the demurrer to the complaint and grant the defendants leave to answer within the usual time.

The same ruling as in the above opinion was made in the case of H. S. Sargeant et al. assignees (appellants) vs. Thomas Cunningham et al.

Chester (appellant) vs. Field et al., a Calaveras county case, and an action in ejectment. The Supreme Court affirms the judgment

CIGARS.

An Important Recommendation

DEADWOOD, Trinity county, Cal., December 11, 1890.

MR. A. COOLOT, Sacramento—Dear Sir: Inclosed please find fifteen ($15) dollars for five hundred cigars, "BRIGHT EYES." Please send them by express at my expense, as I am entirely out of cigars and need them for Saturday. All of the cigars I have bought of you I must tell you have given good satisfaction, and are a splendid article for the money. I will not deal with "drummers," for I got a $45 cigar from my whisky firm, and they were not as good as your LA MEDALLA. Also, please send one of your revised price-lists, as I have had the one I have now since September, 1889, when I first commenced to deal with you. I will send you a larger order very soon. Please do not delay in sending order, and oblige yours respectfully, MRS. CLARA EITEL.

OFFICIAL REPORTS.

SHOWING THE CONDITION OF THREE STATE DEPARTMENTS.

The Adjutant-General, State Board of Equalization and State Printer Render their Reports.

Three more reports—those of the State Board of Equalization, State Printer and Adjutant-General—have been issued from the State Printing office and distributed throughout the State.

Adjutant-General R. H. Orton issues a biennial report concerning the military branch of the State Government for the fortieth and forty-first fiscal years. It shows that the National Guard at present consists of forty-six companies of infantry, eleven companies of artillery armed, equipped and drilled as infantry, two light batteries of artillery, one company of cavalry, and one cadet company—sixty full companies and one cadet company, organized into eight regiments, two battalions and one unattached company. The force is also organized in six brigades by counties, the whole constituting one division.

Since the issuance of his last report, companies have been organized in San Diego, Ventura, Marysville, Red Bluff, Redding, Arcata, Pasadena, Riverside, Santa Ana and San Francisco, and they were assigned to different regiments.

General Orton recommends that one more company be organized and stationed in Oroville, to be attached to the Eighth Battalion of infantry, thus raising it to a full regiment. He also advises that $10,000 be appropriated by the Legislature for the purchase of overcoats for the militia. In his remarks concerning the benefits derived by the national guardsmen from the annual encampments, and especially when the camp grounds are near those of the regular army, General Orton quotes the following from an address delivered by Colonel Turner before the Illinois National Guard Association:

The officers of the regular army can teach us how to rapidly construct out of scant materials effective cover in the open field. We can teach them how to support, on scant appropriations, undiscouraged battalions of earnest men. They can teach us how to bear the privations of campaigning, how to put up with discomfort, and, often with distress. We can teach them how to bear patiently the lack of appreciation on the part of the public of our earnest efforts for the national good, how to bear slights and ridicule without complaint, and without loss of self-respect, or any diminution of our enthusiasm for the service. They can give us many a valuable suggestion in the multitudinous minutiæ of military instruction. We can give to them something of the freedom and broadness which comes to the citizen soldier through the untrammeled roominess of civil life. It would benefit the regular army further, in that its enlisted men might mingle for a time with the higher grade of soldiers in the National Guard, catch something of their enthusiasm, and their spirit of self sacrifice, their devotion to the State. They (the regulars) can teach us much that will be of value as to the duties and course of action which an officer should pursue under the varying, often difficult, circumstances of military life. We can give to them a knowledge of the value of a strong personal interest and sympathy with the men who come under our command. And each could help the other to a fuller realization of the fact that the officer is a power in his position for either good or evil, over the lives and character of the men he commands; that it is his prime and highest duty to be a model—an example for his command in all that pertains to the life of the soldier, the gentleman, the citizen, the patriot.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

The report of this body contains some valuable statistics and also a review of the work done in the last two fiscal years. The Board states that although the mortgaged debt of the State has excited attention on account of its immensity, yet the danger over the indebtedness is more apparent than real. The report says:

It is true that in 1890 we have a mortgaged debt of a hundred and sixty-eight millions, and that in 1880 there was only a fraction less than ninety-seven millions. But it must be remembered that the assessed value of the real estate in 1880 was $460,691 217, while in 1890 it is $890,614,099. In other words, the percentage of mortgages to the assessed value of the whole land and improvements assessed in 1880 was 21.01, while in 1890 it is 18.87, showing a much more healthy financial condition. We believe the loans made to-day maintain a less ratio to the value of the land than they did in 1880. In 1880 there was a sudden bound into a "full cash value," which, in some localities, exceeded the true cash value. Values have settled down permanently, and the assessment of 1890 is below the true value of the property. Within the past decade California has made wonderful strides in rural industries. She has seen the rise and progress of the fruit industry to such an extent as to excite the marvel of her most conservative citizens. Thousands upon thousands of acres have been planted to fruit trees and vines; extensive and costly improvements have been made, the extent of which will be exceeded in magnitude in the next decade.

In concluding its report, the Board says that at no time in the history of the State is the necessity more paramount for an intelligible, precise and authentic presentation of the industrial resources of the State. Private enterprise has done much towards attracting immigration to the State, but we are deficient in the literature of the subject of the resources of the State presented under authority.

STATE PRINTER'S REPORT.

State Printer Young's biennial report is made up mostly of statements showing the amount of work done for the different State departments for the past two fiscal years, and also the number and value of the school books turned out of the office.

In the two years over $230,000 was expended for work done for the State departments. Mr. Young states that the machinery in the office is in good condition and capable of performing any work that may be demanded of it. The book and job rooms have been supplied with new type in liberal quantities.

Mr. Young advises that a second story be built on the storehouse, that the barn be remodeled and that a new smoke-stack be purchased. A recapitulation of all the expenditures of the various departments during the two fiscal years shows:

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

Why They Have Not Yet Appeared in the "Record-Union."

The RECORD-UNION having announced that it would publish the decisions of the Supreme Court, filed after the 1st of January, 1891, some attorneys are becoming impatient because none of the decisions have yet appeared. For the information of such we will state no opinions were filed until the 3d inst. They are then sent to us and the Court requires that after they are set up the proof must be sent to the Secretary of the Court in San Francisco for revision and returned before the decisions can be published. It is, therefore, impossible to publish the opinions, officially, immediately upon their filing. They will be printed in the RECORD-UNION just as promptly as is possible.

AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Adelaide Moore, supported by a very good company, in some respects a strong one, appeared last night at the Metropolitan Theater as Juliet to Mr. Clay Clement's Romeo, and Mr. Wheelock's Mercutio. There are Juliets and Juliets; we do not remember any two alike, in even a few respects. There are girlish, exuberant, and slobbering Juliets; passionate, burning, dissolving Juliets, as Miss Mather's; stately, dignified and loving-under-protest Juliets, like Mary Anderson's. Then there are languorous, warmly, deeply-loving but not extravagantly passionate Juliets, and of such is Miss Moore's. Her conception of the part is that Juliet is a Princess, proud and stately, but carried out of her reserve by a pure and exalted love for a princely youth. But her love is not so passionate as to make her mad, or to lead her into ecstacies of rage or grief. It is rather a deep, slow-flowing, but still irresistible stream of love by a proud and princely woman, who does not forget that she is a noble and the sole child of a house of nobles. She does not, therefore, warm her audience to enthusiasm, nor lose something of an apparent reserve. She is a tall, very graceful, very beautiful soft-voiced woman, who in figure, face and carriage might well justify the raptures of a more ardent Romeo than Mr. Clement makes. The gem of acting in the piece was by Mr. Wheelock as Mercutio, which arose to the level of hight art. All the company is suffering with a Denver cold, and Miss Moore was hoarse also, but towards the close of the play began to recover her voice and read with much better effect. She has many excellent qualities, is by no means a great actress, but by no means a poor one. We think we see in her capacity for excellent work and high achievement, and she has everything in favor of her development. Miss Moore was warmly applauded in the fourth act last night and in the fifth won a hearty recall. To-night she will appear as Madeline in LeClercq's fine drama, "The Fatal Marriage," a play that has never been given here, and that is represented as full of sustained interest and vivacity, and in which Miss Moore appears to the very best advantage, as also does the company. The company goes hence to-morrow to play an engagement in San Francisco.

An accident to Mr. Ulmer, by which his leg was fractured, has necessitated the cancellation of the engagement of the Volunteer Company announced for this week at the Metropolitan.

The tenth anniversary ball of the First Artillery Regiment will be given at Armory Hall on Thursday evening, the 15th. There will be an exhibition drill by Company A at 8 o'clock sharp. The proceeds are to be devoted to the construction of a target range.

Fifth annual ball of Sacramento Council, Y. M. I., at Turner Hall this evening.

Health of the City.

The report of Dr. H. L. Nichols, Secretary of the City Board of Health, shows that thirty-nine deaths occurred in this city during the month of December. Of these five were under 1 year of age, four between 1 and 5 years, three between 5 and 10 years, none between 10 and 20 years, twelve between 20 and 40 years, six between 40 and 60 years, and nine above 60 years. The deaths include nineteen males and twenty females; twenty-four were native and fifteen foreign-born.

The death rate was 15 60 per 1,000. Although unusually high, this rate pales in comparison with that of the city of Dublin (reported by telegraph yesterday), which was 40.06 for December.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.

HOW SHERIFF STANLEY WOULD FEED THE COUNTY PRISONERS.

Three Meals a Day for Those Who Work—Another New County Road—Other Matters.

The Board of Supervisors resumed its session yesterday. All the members were present, and Chairman Greer presided.

The matter of the petition of C. W. Clarke and others for a new county road in Road District No. 18 was taken up, and the petitioners spoke in favor of the proposed road.

The report of the viewers fixed the width of the proposed road at 35 feet, and said it would cost the county $700.

The law fixes the width of county roads at 40 feet, so the Supervisors sent for the District Attorney for his opinion.

In the meantime ex-County Surveyor Boyd explained that the width of the road had been placed at 35 feet so as to preserve a row of fruit trees belonging to John Crofton.

District Attorney Ryan advised the Board that it could amend the viewers' report if desirable, or it could adopt or ignore it altogether.

Mr. Crofton, Sol. Runyon and others addressed the Board, some being for and others against the proposition.

After considerable talk it was agreed to have the road, and an order to that effect was passed. Mr. Crofton will be paid for his fruit trees.

At the afternoon session of the Board Sheriff Stanley addressed the members in relation to the feeding of prisoners in the County Jail during the ensuing year.

This same matter came up for hearing a couple of days ago, and Supervisor Bates declared himself as opposed to giving prisoners more than two meals a day who did not work in the chain-gang. This had been the rule, he said, but it had not been lived up to. The Sheriff was usually allowed 25 cents a day for feeding prisoners, and 12½ cents extra for those employed in the chain-gang, giving them three meals a day.

Mr. Stanley said yesterday that he had looked into the matter thoroughly, and had satisfied himself that there were other prisoners besides those in the chain-gang who deserved three meals a day. These prisoners worked inside the jail, and worked as hard, if not harder, than those in the chain-gang. Mr. Stanley said these prisoners should be fed three meals a day, and would be fed, even if he had to pay for their extra meals himself.

After considerable discussion, Mr. Bates explained to the Sheriff that all he was "kicking on" was that the bills presented to the county did not show that the extra meals were for others than the chain-gang. People had complained to him that twenty-five or more persons were being fed as members of the chain-gang, when no more than seven or eight had ever been seen on the streets in the gang.

Upon Mr. Stanley promising to itemize his bills properly, Mr. Bates moved that the rate for feeding prisoners be fixed at 25 cents a day for all prisoners and 12½ cents a day extra for those employed either in the jail or in the chain-gang. The motion was adopted.

The reports of County Treasurer Huntoon and License Collector Dolan were received.

An order was received from the Superior Court calling for the drawing of 400 trial jurors and 100 Grand Jurors from the body of the county.

The County Treasurer was instructed to demand of the State Treasurer the money belonging to Sacramento county for the indigent sick fund.

The Board then adjourned until to-day.

UNITED STATES SENATOR.

Leland Stanford the Unanimous Choice of the Caucus.

There was a joint caucus of the Republican members of both branches of the Legislature last night, held for the purpose of agreeing upon a candidate for United States Senator to succeed Senator Stanford.

The caucus was held in the Assembly chamber, and there were eighty-four members present. Senator Heacock was chosen to preside, and in nominating him Speaker Coombs made remarks complimentary to Senator Stanford.

Senator Carpenter of Los Angeles placed Leland Stanford in nomination, in a brief but fervid speech.

On the call of the roll all present voted for Mr. Stanford, except Assemblyman Hunnewell of Mono, who cast his vote for W. W. Morrow. Before the result was declared, however, he moved to make the vote unanimous for Senator Stanford.

It was explained by a friend of Mr. Hunnewell, after the caucus adjourned, that during the campaign that gentleman had promised some of his constituents that he would vote for Mr. Morrow if elected.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

The Democratic members of the Legislature held a joint caucus in the State Library. The Dibble apportionment bill was discussed, but no action taken thereon. The general impression prevailed, however, that the effect of the bill would be to legislate the fourteen new Republican Senators out of office.

The caucus then took up the matter of the United States Senatorship, and S. M. White was declared to be the unanimous choice of the caucus.

Mr. White will receive the complimentary vote of his party on Tuesday next, and Mr. Stanford will receive the prize itself.

We are in the Pool.

It is always the darkest before day. It is whispered around that the railroad shops pay off to-day. If so, the Red House will remain open until 8:30 o'clock P. M., in order for all to attend their great winter clearing sale, by incandescent and gaslight combined. Bargains for all. The great reduction that they have made on all goods surpasses anything like it ever before. They go with a rush. The sale stops when the goods give out. *

Indorsement by a Professional.

SACRAMENTO, March 6, 1889.

MR. JOHN F. COOPER—Dear Sir: This is to certify that the magnificent "Mathushek" grand piano used at the concert last evening is a splendid instrument in every particular. I heartily recommend it to all who want a strictly first-class piano.

"DICK" AND FRANK.

JURY-BRIBERS CREIGHTON AND NORTHEY PARDONED.

Governor Waterman Thinks They were More Sinned Against than Sinning—Other Pardons—Etc.

Governor Waterman clapped the climax in his career as Chief Executive of the State of California yesterday by issuing four pardons and five commutations. The most important of his official acts were the freeing of Daniel J. Creighton and Frank T. Northey, the notorious San Francisco jury bribers.

These cases excited more attention from the public at the time of the trials than almost any other topic. Robert Morrow, Jas. L. McCord, "Dick" Creighton and Frank Northey were each charged with felony in bribing a jury to bring in a verdict for a very small amount of damages, in a suit in which the Sutter Street Cable Company were the defendants and a widow named Mrs. Woods the plaintiff. Her husband had been killed by being run over by a cable car and she instituted suit for heavy damages. Morrow was a prominent stockholder in the company, and McCord, who is now dead, was the Superintendent. The trial resulted in the conviction of only Creighton and Northey, and they were sentenced to five and nine years imprisonment, respectively, in San Quentin.

After Creighton had been found guilty he deserted his bondsmen, and went to Mexico and thence to Australia. After absenting himself for nearly two years, he returned to Honolulu, and from there sailed to Victoria. Shortly afterward he gave himself up to the authorities. In granting his pardon, the Governor uses these reasons:

WHY HE DID IT.

"It is my sincere and honest belief that Creighton is less guilty of the offense of which he was convicted than others implicated with him who have never been brought to justice, and I think the punishment he has already received is sufficient for his wrong-doing. He bears the reputation of being a great big-hearted boy who was always ready to help a friend; industrious, sober, of good family, and universally a favorite. Judge J. T. Sullivan, in a personal letter to me, earnestly requests the pardon, believing, as he says, that justice has been fully subserved. His petition is signed by eleven of the jurors (the twelfth being dead); by E. B. Stonehill, the prosecuting District Attorney; W. C. Graves, ex-Assistant District Attorney; Judge Walter H. Levy, George Flournoy, Jr., A. T. Spotts, Robert J. Tobin, Judge Adams of San Luis Obispo, and hundreds of prominent citizens and business men of San Francisco. I am also in receipt to-day of a strong petition signed by fifty-nine of the Senators and Assemblymen of the present Legislature."

THE CASE OF NORTHEY.

In pardoning Northey the Governor says:

"The same reasons influence me in granting this pardon as in the case of Creighton. Both are young men, 25 years of age, and were convicted of crimes of which others were really guilty, and they were the mere instruments. Northey's petition is signed by eight of the jurors, W. H. L. Barnes, D. L. Farnsworth, A. W. Scott, D. A. McDonald, O. F. Willey, T. J. Bass, Bryan Diggins, David Stearn and sons, Charles J. Haggerty, C. S. Crittenden, Thomas B. Cunningham, T. H. McCaine, C. F. Bassett, M. P. Holmes, R. C. Diggins, Louis Bendell, George Childs, John D. Siebe, E. F. Preston, D. O. B. Henarie and many other equally prominent citizens of San Francisco; also a petition signed by fifty-nine Senators and Assemblymen of the present Legislature."

YOUNG HARRY EDWARDS.

A pardon was also granted to Harry S. Edwards, who was convicted of forgery in San Francisco in March, 1890, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment. The reasons are given as follows:

"Edwards is a young man, 20 years of age, of good family, and this is his first offense. His former employer is again desirous of employing him, in order to give him an opportunity to regain his former standing in the business and social community. With this understanding I grant the pardon."

LIFE-TIMER JOHN CLARKE.

Another convict named John Clarke was also given his freedom. He was convicted of murder in Santa Clara county in December, 1886, and sentenced to life imprisonment.

SENTENCES COMMUTED.

The commutations issued were five in number, four of them being to life-timers, and issued as follows:

Wong Ah Ngow, convicted of murder in San Francisco July, 1880, and sentenced to life imprisonment; commuted to twenty years.

Ah Kim, sentenced for life from Tehama county in April, 1879, on a charge of murder; commuted to twenty years.

Alfred and Albert Quackenbush, convicted of murder in Sonoma county in April and July, 1881, respectively, and ordered to prison for life; commuted to twenty years.

Fidele Bezy, sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in Fresno county in February, 1886; commuted to ten years. The Governor says: "The prisoner being a foreigner, not understanding the language in which he was addressed, was at a great disadvantage and thereby in his answers seriously criminated himself. His petition for executive clemency is indorsed by the very best people in his district, the Judge who sentenced him, the jurors who convicted him and the law officers who prosecuted him. His sentence is commuted to ten years."

Charles Gerhow, convicted of murder in the second degree in San Francisco in October, 1887, and sentenced to thirty-four years; commuted to ten years. The following reasons are assigned: "I fully believe that Gerhow should not have been convicted of the above-named crime, as the facts presented to me do not warrant such a verdict. I think manslaughter and a term of ten years would have been sufficiently severe, and to this end I grant the commutation."

INAUGURAL BALL.

The Executive Committee Makes Final Arrangements Therefor.

The Inaugural Ball Executive Committee held its last meeting last evening to make final arrangements for the ball. It was stated that the committee could positively estimate that the assets would be at least $3,308. More tickets would be sold in the next two days, and it was thought that several hundred additional would be subscribed.

Special press tickets were issued to the papers that requested them, and the supply was completely exhausted.

Mr. Ennis and Mr. Leake, of the Decoration Committee, reported that they intended to expend $763 in decorating the Capitol building and lighting the dome.

It was resolved that Priesdent Joseph Steffens escort Governor Markham and his party to the ball in carriages, and that Frank D. Ryan see that the same courtesy was extended Lieutenant-Governor Reddick.

Mr. Steffens stated that Chairman Stump had telegraphed Mayor Comstock, asking if the committee would not appropriate $100 for the purpose of chartering a special car for King Kalakaua, General Gibbon and Admiral Brown and party to occupy in coming to Sacramento.

It was resolved as the sense of the meeting that the City Trustees be asked to bear the expense, as a mark of respect to the distinguished visitors.

The following estimates of the expenses were made: Supper, $1,138, and also $48 for employes' supper; music, $320; decorations, $663; printing, $382 75; advertising, $5; badges, $37; postage, $80; salary assistant Secretary, $25; white wine and claret, $57 50; watchmen, $100; carriages, $20; badges, $5; incidentals, $40.

The receipts and expenses figure about even, but the matter of purchasing champagne had not been considered. Some of the members of the committee feared that there would not be enough money on hand, but Chairman Steffens relieved their anxiety by guaranteeing the shortage in case tickets were not sold.

Colonel Hamilton brought up the question as to where the King should be placed in the grand march, and the matter was deemed an important subject for consideration. There were different opinions expressed, and it was finally decided to leave the question to the Chairman and the Governor to settle.

B. U. Steinman was chosen a member of the Sacramento Reception and Invitation Committee in place of Joseph Hahn.

The Committee on Decorations announced that the Janitor's office in the building would be fitted up as the hat-room, and that the offices of the Surveyor-General and Adjutant-General would be used as the ladies' waiting-room.

Mayor Comstock desired it stated that the badges for the special Reception Committee of Sacramento, who were to see that the guests were properly received on the night of the ball, could be procured this morning by the members calling on him at his office.

STANLEY COMING.

The Great African Explorer Soon to Visit Sacramento.

John F. Bragg, the manager of Pacific coast amusements, is considering the advisability of making arrangements for the appearance of Henry M. Stanley in Sacramento, before his departure for Europe.

The appearance of the great African explorer in New York, in November last, brought forth one of the largest audiences that has ever congregated in that city. The assemblage was made up principally of the leading society and literary people of America's metropolis. His lecture was well received, and a large portion of the enormous proceeds was devoted to worthy charities.

Major J. B. Pond is now managing the Stanley lecture tour, and it is his intention to have him appear in the various large cities of America and Canada.

Before committing himself absolutely to the venture, Mr. Bragg will start subscription lists in this city, with a view to making Stanley's appearance here a grand social success. If the result of the canvass is sufficiently encouragingly, arrangments will be made with Major Pond whereby Mr. Stanley will start for the Pacific coast early in March, and give at least one lecture in this city.

Barwick's Weather Budget.

The Signal Service temperature at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. yesterday was 37° and 50°, while the highest and lowest was 57° and 35°, with gentle to fresh and brisk northerly winds and a partly clouded sky. The barometer readings at 5 A. M. and 5 P. M. were 30.26 and 30.21 inches respectively.

The highest and lowest temperature one year ago yesterday was 44° and 30°, with no rainfall, and one year ago to-day 44° and 29°.

One year ago to-day was the coldest day since the cold spell in January, 1888, when the lowest point reached by the mercury was 19° in two consecutive days. Thus far in January the temperature has been bracing, pleasant and agreeable.

Cannot "Make a Date."

King Kalakaua will be in the city to-morrow, as heretofore announced, and will dine at the residence of Mrs. Crocker and her daughter, Mrs. Harry Gillig. He can not, however, give any assurance of his presence at the Sutter Club, according to the following letter received yesterday:

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., January 6th.

Newton Booth, President Sutter Club, Sacramento: His Majesty desires compliments and to state that he expects to arrive in Sacramento on Friday noon as guest of Mrs. Crocker, and if health permits, will attend inaugural ball, but fears present health will not permit further engagements this week. G. W. MCFARLANE, His Majesty's Chamberlain.

Police Court Cases.

The cases of Ah Che and Ah Chung, the Chinamen whom officer Higgins arrested Tuesday night in a raid on a lottery headquarters, had their cases continued yesterday in the Police Court until January 14th.

The charge of petit larceny against "Bill" Leonard was dismissed on payment of costs.

The examination case of W. O. Armstrong, charged with assault to murder, was continued until January 13th.

Another Room Robbed.

A young man employed in the Saddle Rock Restaurant has been made a victim of the thieving gang that now infests the city. His room in the Orleans building was entered yesterday during his absence and robbed of several articles of fine clothing and other valuables.

No Divorce.

The divorce case of Susie J. Coffman vs Franklin H. Coffman was concluded before Superior Judge Van Fleet yesterday. Cruelty was the ground on which Mrs. Coffman sought a separation. Judge Van Fleet, however, denied the divorce.

The Pay-Car is About.

The pay-car paid off some of the yard employes Tuesday evening and left for Red Bluff. It will return to-day, but may go to Placerville and pay the employes there before distributing the sheckles to the shopmen in this city.

THE NEW GOVERNOR.

COLONEL HENRY H. MARKHAM WILL BE INAUGURATED TO-DAY.

The Ceremony Will Take Place in the Assembly Chamber—Outline of the Programme.

At noon-time to-day the office of Chief Executive will change hands. Governor G. H. Waterman will step down and out, and the functions of the office will fall upon Colonel Henry H. Markham. At 12 o'clock M. the Legislature will meet in Joint Convention to inaugurate the new Governor and Lieutenant-Governor. The ceremony will take place in the Assembly Chamber, Colonel Markham's recent illness rendering it inadvisable for him to expose himself for so long a time in the open air.

At yesterday's consultation between the Senate and Assembly Inaugural Committees, Adjutant-General Orton suggested that the military form in front of Governor Markham's residence, and present arms when he appeared. The Governor should then proceed in a carriage to the Capitol building, the four military companies accompanying him, preceded by a band. In front of the Capitol building the military would form in line and again salute the Governor as he passed into the building.

The Joint Committee adopted this plan of procedure, and at a subsequent meeting the following additional programme was adopted:

Three carriages will be in waiting at the entrance of Capitol building at 11 A. M. The first, drawn by four white horses, will leave the Capitol with Governor Waterman and Elwood Bruner, Chairman of the committee. The second will contain Senator Frazer, President of the Senate pro tem., Speaker of the House Coombs, and two members of the committee; and the third the President of the committee.

Lieutenant-Governor Reddick will be called for at the Capitol Hotel, whence the procession will proceed to Colonel Markham's residence, and thence to the Capitol.

Chairman Bruner, of the Joint Committee, will escort the Governor to the Assembly Chamber, where he will be introduced to Speaker Coombs, who in turn will introduce him to the audience.

Superior Judge Van Fleet, of this city, will administer the oath of office, and Colonel Markham will then deliver his inaugural address.

Brigadier-General T. W. Sheehan and staff, Colonel J. W. Guthrie and staff, and the city companies of the First Artillery Regiment will compose the escort. The officers will not be mounted. The military will assemble at the armory at 10 o'clock this morning.

The battery will fire a salute from the terrace in the rear of the Capitol when the procession reaches the building.

THE REVISED PROGRAMME.

The Joint Legislative Inauguration Committee met last night and arranged the following order of the inauguration ceremony:

On reaching the Capitol the procession will enter headed by Governor Waterman and Governor-elect Markham. Following them will come Lieutenant-Governor-elect Reddick and the Joint Legislative Committee.

As they enter there will be music by the First Artillery Band.

Introduction of Governor Waterman by Speaker Coombs and address by the former.

Music.

Introduction (by Chairman Bruner of the Joint Committee) of Governor-elect Markham to the Speaker, who will administer the oath of office.

Introduction of Governor Markham by the Speaker.

Delivery of the inaugural address.

Music.

Introduction of Lieutenant-Governor Reddick, who will take the oath and deliver an address.

Reading and approval of the minutes of the Joint Convention.

Adjournment—music.

HE WILL GO TO THE BALL.

An Assemblyman's Dress Suit Stolen, but Recovered Again.

One of the Assemblymen of the Legislature came near being deprived of the privilege of attending the inaugural ball to-morrow night, for the want of suitable clothes to wear. When he came to this city he brought with him an elegant new broadcloth dress-suit, with the intention of wearing it on the night of the ball.

He engaged a room at an uptown lodging-house, and two days had not passed before he discovered that his suit had been stolen. He reported the matter to the police, but at the same time gave up all hopes of being able to attend the grand affair at the Capitol.

He was almost overcome with joy however last night when officer Simmons returned him his clothes, intact, but sorely in need of the attention of a tailor to straighten out the creases. The legislator invited all hands to drink and vowed his intention of wearing the suit constantly until the ball was over.

Officer Simmons found the clothes in a saloon, where they had been left by a party, as security for a loan of $3. The suit cost $75.

Chief of Police Drew and the entire force of officers on the night watch were to have made a raid on the dives early this morning.

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.

TWENTY-NINTH SESSION.

SENATE.

SACRAMENTO, January 7, 1891.

The Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock A. M., President pro tem. Fraser in the chair. Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. A. J. Bruner. The journal of yesterday was read and approved. Roll called and quorum present.

THE INAUGURAL BALL.

Mr. Dray offered a resolution providing that the Secretary of State be requested to have the dome of the Capitol lighted (by electricity) during the progress of the inaugural ball on Friday night, and that the Senate Chamber be placed in readiness for decoration by the committee; also, that the sum of $200 be appropriated for that purpose. Adopted.

Mr. Goucher, from the Inaugural Ball Joint Committee, presented a concurrent resolution requesting the Secretary of State to place at the disposal of the committee the unoccupied rooms, halls, corridors, etc., of the Capitol building from Thursday noon until Monday morning.

Mr. Goucher explained that it would be necessary to remove all the furniture of the Senate and Assembly chambers, and such other rooms as would be required for the inaugural ball, to the upper floor, and that the committee would require the use of the halls, etc., during the time named.

The resolution was adopted without dissent.

Mr. Goucher also presented a resolution instructing the Sergeant-at-Arms to permit the committee to use the Senate chamber and other rooms under his charge, for the purpose stated, during the time the Senate would not be in session. Adopted.

Also, a resolution appropriating $50 from the contingent fund of the Senate for the use of the committee, to be used toward defraying the expenses of the music for the ball. Adopted.

STANDING RULES.

Mr. Heacock, from the committee appointed to prepare and report to the Senate rules for the government of that body, reported that the committee was not yet prepared to present its report, and at his request further time was granted.

TO ADJOURN OVER.

Mr. Dray offered a resolution providing that when the Senate adjourns on Thursday it be to meet on Monday, the 11th, at 11 o'clock A. M.

Mr. Ostrom was inclined to the opinion that there was a constitutional objection thereto. The Constitution provided that neither branch of the Legislature should adjourn for more than three days at a time.

Mr. DeLong said the resolution was perfectly proper. It provided that when the Senate adjourned on Thursday it remain adjourned until Monday—not that the recess continue from to-day until that date.

Mr. Mead said the resolution really covered only two days—Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Goucher said if the constitutional objection did apply, it would only be necessary to make the resolution a concurrent one, and get the Assembly's consent thereto. But, as a matter of fact, more than three days would not intervene under the terms of the resolution. The day of adjournment and the day of reassembling could not be counted; therefore the resolution was clearly within the constitutional provision. The necessity for the recess was apparent to all; everything had to be removed from the Senate Chamber and replaced again, and all the time for which the recess was asked would be required.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

AFTER THE "WELL"

Mr. Campbell of Siskiyou moved to take up for consideration the Assembly concurrent resolution relating to the sale of liquors in the Capitol building. Carried.

The Secretary read the resolution, which is as follows:

"WHEREAS, Alcoholic and vinous liquors are being sold in the basement of the State Capitol, and a restaurant and saloon combined are being conducted there; and whereas, the sale or giving away of such alcoholic or vinous liquors in the State Capitol is a violation of the law of the State and a discredit to the Legislature; and whereas, there is no law permitting or authorizing any State officer to rent the basement of the State Capitol for any purpose whatever; therefore, be it

"Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, the Senate thereof concurring, That the Secretary of State be and he is hereby advised to order and cause the removal of the restaurant and saloon combined from the State Capitol building; and be it

"Resolved, That the Secretary of State be and he is hereby advised to order and cause the removal of all signs or cards indicating said restaurant and saloon from the walls of the corridors and rooms of the State Capitol."

Mr. Simpson moved that the resolutions be referred to the Committee on Public Buildings.

Mr. Heacock raised the point of order that there was no such committee at the present time.

The Chair ruled that the point of order was well taken.

Mr. Campbell then moved that the resolutions be adopted.

Mr. Crandall said it had been customary heretofore to refer matters to committees that had not yet been appointed, and he thought the motion to refer was proper and in order.

Mr. Simpson objected to the scope of the resolution. It proposed to deprive members of the privilege of getting their lunch during stormy weather, when it would be inconvenient to leave the building. The duties of those in charge of the building were clearly defined by law, and if such officers did their duty there could be no trouble about the sale of liquors within the building.

Mr. Sprague said the law gives the Secretary of State control of the Capitol building, and, in his opinion, a concurrent resolution of both branches of the Legislature did not possess the dignity of a statutory Act. He moved as a substitute for the whole matter, that a committee of five be appointed to inquire into the matter and report to the Senate upon the right of the Legislature to direct such action as the resolution proposed.

Mr. Heacock moved to amend by instructing the committee to report to the Senate at 11:30 A. M. on Monday next.

The amendment was accepted by Mr. Sprague.

Mr. Goucher hoped the whole thing—substitute, amendment and all—would be defeated. The Legislature had, while in session, control of the Senate and Assembly chambers and the committee rooms, and there only. The scope of the resolution was impertinent. It virtually institutes criminal proceedings against some State official by implying that he has done an illegal act. If such were the case, it was the duty of other officials to take cognizance of the matter—not the Legislature. This body would have just as much right to inquire what the Executive keeps in his office as to inquire what disposition any other official allows to be made of the rooms under his charge. The whole thing, he thought, was out of order, and beyond the jurisdiction of the Senate.

Mr. Sprague's motion to refer the matter to a special committee was carried by a vote of 33 ayes to 4 noes.

The Chair named as such committee Senators Sprague, Wilson, Flint, Goucher and Voorhies.

SNEAK THIEVES ABOUT.

Mr. Mead rose to a question of privilege which involved, he said, a delicate but important matter. It related to something that gave rise to considerable complaint during the last session, and which had been already started since this one opened. He was sorry to see that, with all the attaches that had been provided, thieves could not be kept out. Yesterday his gloves had been stolen from the pocket of his overcoat which hung in the Sergeant-at-Arms' room. Something should, he thought, be done to correct the evil. The loss referred to was not great, but more valuable property had in times past been taken, and doubtless would be again if attaches were not more vigilant.

The Chair suggested that the theft complained of probably occurred between the outgoing of the old and the incoming of the new attaches. [Meaning that, in the confusion consequent upon the interchange of duties, the attaches were caught off their guard.]

Mr. Mead, however, appeared to think that possibly his own remarks had been misconstrued, and he disclaimed any intention to reflect upon the honesty of either the outgoing or incoming attaches. He said he merely wished to have attention directed to the matter, in order that nothing of the kind might again occur.

CODES FOR SENATORS.

Mr. Sprague offered a resolution directing the Secretary of State to provide each Senator with a copy of the State Constitution and a full set of the latest edition of the Codes.

Mr. Crandall moved to amend by limiting the cost of the Codes to $10 per set.

The Chair asked if the Senator from Yolo would accept the amendment.

Mr. Sprague replied that he could not accept the amendment, because he did not know exactly what the Codes were worth, and its effect might be to defeat the aim of the resolution. He was perfectly willing himself to trust to the integrity of the Secretary of State in the matter, but would temporarily withdraw his resolution until he could ascertain what would be the cost of the books.

At 12:10 P. M. the Senate took a recess until Thursday at 11 A. M.

ASSEMBLY.

The House met at 11 o'clock, Speaker Coombs in the chair. Roll called; quorum present. Prayer by the Chaplain. Reading of the journal of yesterday dispensed with, and journal approved.

On motion of Mr. Bert the report of the Committee on Rules, submitting standing rules for the twenty-ninth session, was taken up and adopted.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The Governor's second biennial message was then taken up.

Mr. Phillips—I move that the reading of the message be dispensed with in view of the fact that it has been printed and is now on the desk of members.

The Speaker—I would suggest, it being the biennial message, it had perhaps better be read. Is it long?

Mr. Phillips—Very long.

Mr. Dibble—I do not think the Governor expects it to be read.

The Speaker—Well if the Governor does not expect it, we will not read it. [Laughter.]

The motion of Mr. Phillips was then agreed to.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. Bruner—In order to facilitate the introduction of bills and prevent confusion, I move that the roll of the Assembly be called and each member, as his name is called, present his bills.

Mr. Young—I move an amendment that the roll be reversed with each alternate name first called at the top and then at the bottom.

Both the amendment and the original motion were voted down.

CORRECTIONS.

The Speaker—The Chair desires to make a statement to the House. At the Joint Convention held yesterday to count the vote for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, there was a resolution introduced calling for an adjournment of the Convention to a certain day. It was the impression of the Chair at the time, although it was not of enough importance to mention it, that the Convention then had no power with reference to an adjournment; that really it was not a Convention, but was simply the authorized counting of the votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor before the two Houses, and that the resolution is of no legal effect. It is doubtful in the mind of the Chairman whether any Senator or Assemblymen had any right at all with reference to voting upon any proposition in that Convention. The office of the Convention was purely ministerial, and there could not be any deliberation.

The Chair would, therefore, suggest that a concurrent resolution be introduced calling for a Joint Convention to-morrow, to meet the idea embodied in the resolution which passed on yesterday. The Chair desires to make another statement. The other day the gentlemen from Shasta (Shanahan) make a motion for indefinite postponement, and took the floor to debate it. The Chair ruled that the motion was not debatable, acting upon what it considered parliamentary law; but it seems there is a special rule which had escaped the observation of the Chair, by which a motion to indefinitely postpone is made debatable. The Chair, therefore, made a mistake in its ruling in requiring the gentleman from Shasta to take his seat.

RESOLUTIONS.

By Mr. Daly—That P. R. Riding be appointed messenger between the Clerk's desk and the State Printing Office, at a per diem of $6. Committee on Attaches.

The Speaker suggested that, as the same bills were in many instances introduced in both houses, some expense to the State could be saved by the appointment of a joint committee to eliminate one where there was such duplication.

Mr. Dibble and Mr. Clark agreed with the Speaker, while Mr. Shanahan thought such action would interfere with the right of members to make such contest as they thought best for their measures.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The caucus of Republican Assemblymen held yesterday forenoon was void of result. The question was as to whether or not there should be lady clerks on committees. Another attempt will be made on Monday to determine the question.

San Franciscans and others coming here to attend the inaugural ball are set upon as soon as they land from the hotel 'busses by a crowd of "strapped" visitors who failed to get legislative places, and who are willing to take anything from a nickel up.

Senator Campbell's brief but forcible speech the other day has had the effect of driving most of the ladies over to the Assembly end of the building. The Solano Senator's words still echo about the beautifully frescoed walls of the chamber.

Some old-time Republicans who never yet had a taste of State Treasury pap, but who tried hard to get something to do during the present session, are doing some vigorous "kicking" because the veteran Democratic gate-keeper Joe Van Praag was voted back into his old place by a Republican Senate at $4 a day. The air is made very blue in the vicinity of these little hallway caucusses.
